

United States To Launch Satellite On Friday

By Robert S. Allen
Daily Record Columnist
Washington, Nov. 12 — The first U. S. satellite is to be launched on Friday!

That is, it will be launched if all goes well with preparations being furiously rushed to completion by the scientists and officials directing the Navy's Operation "Vanguard." If the Friday target date is not realized, the "Vanguard" satellite will be shot into outer space as soon thereafter as possible. In any event, this greatly-accelerated launching will take place before Thanksgiving Day. Navy authorities have laid this down as a "must."

The "Vanguard" satellite will be 6.4 inches weighing approximately four pounds. It will be orbited around 300 miles above the earth by a three-stage missile.

The Army's "Jupiter-C" intermediate range ballistic missile, which Defense Secretary McElroy ordered to "supplement" the "Vanguard" project, has reached heights in excess of 620 miles, covered more than 3,200 miles, and speeds upwards of 15,000 miles per hour.

Some Pentagon missile experts are privately of the opinion the Army will orbit a satellite with the "Jupiter-C" ahead of a "Vanguard" sphere.

However, there is a big difference between the two satellites.

The "Vanguard" satellite is designed especially for earth-girdling purposes. The 6.4-inch sphere will contain two radios; one for tracking, and the other for transmitting atmospheric data.

Instruments in the "Jupiter-C" satellite will be of a more limited type.

Following are publishable highlights from a Navy Research Laboratory memorandum describing what will take place in the impending satellite launching:

"The three-stage vehicle takes off vertically under first-stage power. It ascends in a smooth curve, tilting gradually from the vertical in the direction (to the southeast) of the intended orbit.

At first-stage burnout, the vehicle is about 36 miles above the earth and is traveling at an angle of roughly 45 degrees to the vertical. Then the first stage separates from the other two stages and coasts to an impact about 230 miles from the launching point.

"The second stage ignites upon separation from the first stage and under its own power on a progressively inclined trajectory to an altitude of about 140 miles. At burnout, it has a vertical velocity sufficient for ascent to about 300 miles altitude and a horizontal velocity that is about half the required orbital velocity of 25,000 feet per second or approximately 18,000 miles per hour.

"The nose cone is jettisoned midway in second-stage powered flight. No separation occurs at second-stage burnout. The second-third stage combination coasts forward a distance of about 700 miles in ascending to the 300-mile third-stage projection altitude.

"During this coasting period, several important functions are performed. The two-stage vehicle is brought to the correct orientation roughly tangential to the earth's surface for projection of the third stage. Then the third stage is imparted the rotation necessary for stable flight.

"At this point, the vehicle is, so to speak, fully committed—no further control can be exercised. Separation of the payload will occur after third-stage burnout.

"At burning's end, the third stage will have a velocity vector of some direction and magnitude. Owing to the accumulation of errors in second-stage orientation, in sensing second-stage zenith, and in third-stage stability during firing, the final velocity vector can hardly be truly tangential to a circle.

However, the vehicle is designed to have a final velocity in excess of that required for a circular orbit. This excess represents an essential margin for error.

"The period of the satellite in its orbit will be about 90 minutes."

During the past month Russia has launched two satellites into outer space, Sputnik I and Sputnik II. The Russian satellites are reportedly both larger than the one to be sent up by the United States. They are also circling the globe at higher altitudes.

The second Soviet satellite, Sputnik II, carried a dog out into space.

Judge Rhodes Writes Verdict Of Court

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 12 (AP)—State Superior Court today refused new trials for four Scranton area union leaders convicted of conspiracy in the dynamiting of a private dwelling being constructed by nonunion labor.

The decision, written by President Judge Chester H. Rhodes, Stroudsburg, said: "The evidence presented by the Commonwealth clearly sustains the verdict of the jury. Defendants received the fair and impartial trial to which all accused persons are entitled."

Seeking Trials

Seeking new trials were Joseph Bartell, Philip Brady and Anthony Bonacuse, officers of building trades unions, and John Durkin, an officer of Teamsters Local 229.

They were convicted by a Lackawanna County Court jury of conspiracy after four other men were indicted and pleaded guilty of the actual bombing in April, 1954 of Scranton property owned by Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Ruby.

The contractor building the Ruby home, Edward Pozuske, testified at the union officials' trial that he was approached by Bonacuse. He said Bonacuse advised him "to get into the union or you'll have plenty of trouble around here."

Judge Rhodes said: "Since it was Bradshaw's testimony which directly connected all of the defendants with the conspiracy they contend that there is thus insufficient evidence to sustain the convictions."

"We do not agree that Bradshaw's testimony should be rejected of law. Although Bradshaw may be under indictment for perjury he has not been convicted and sentenced. Until that time he is a competent witness."

Judge Rhodes also noted that the appellants "concluded their argument with the comprehensive assertion that the overall conduct of the trial resulted in the denial of a fair trial to each of them."

"We find no reversible error as to any defendant," he said.

Superior Court ordered the four to appear in Lackawanna County Court for commitment until they have complied with their sentences.

Education Week Children Need Help

IT'S OFFICIAL NOW—A new industry for the Ronson Co. plant in East Stroudsburg was assured yesterday with transfer of a deed to the property from Monroe County Industries, Inc., to Wyco Industrial Manufacturing Co. Taking part in the transfer are John T. Gross of Allentown, deputy Secretary of Commerce; Harry Weitzman, president of the firm, and M. F. Crowe, president of the industrial group.

New Firm Ready To Enter Area

A NEW INDUSTRY will move into the former Ronson Co. plant in East Stroudsburg "just as fast as they can get a blower system installed," it was announced yesterday.

M. F. Crowe, president of Monroe County Industries, Inc., said the firm will be known in Pennsylvania as Wyco Industrial Manufacturing Co. It has been incorporated in this state.

The company, moving here from Brooklyn, was known there as B. Weitzman and Co. It manufactures industrial furniture.

The deed transferring the property was filed yesterday in the office of the register and recorder in Monroe County Court House.

Installation of the blower system is a safety factor, Crowe explained, since ventilation must be provided for machines used in processing the wood the company uses as raw material.

Community Chest Marking Critical Peak Of Campaign

TODAY MARKS a critical peak in the current Community Chest campaign, according to Clifford Cramer, campaign chairman.

At 4 p. m. all Chest division leaders will meet at the Penn-Stroud Hotel. This will be the final meeting of the current drive.

One Theme

During the past two weeks Cramer and other Chest officials have repeatedly hit on one theme: That workers have failed to make contacts with potential donors.

Chest directors agree that a wave of illness in the area slowed down collection of pledges in the campaign. But they have emphasized that within the past week most contacts should have been made.

At last week's meeting the Chest stood at 68 per cent of its $80,000 quota. Cramer is urging division leaders to make every effort to put the drive "over the top" before the end of November.

Fire In Cabin

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 12 (AP)—A Capital Airlines DC-4 carrying 51 passengers made an emergency landing at Martinsburg Airport today when fire broke out in one of its four engines.

Court Speaker

However, Justice Brennan, who spoke for the court then, added this comment: "The portrayal of sex, e. g., in art, literature and scientific works, is not sufficient reason to deny material the constitutional protection of freedom of speech and press."

The court made no mention of various past decisions curbing movie censors, including one in 1955 which struck down a Kansas film censorship law.

May Arm Guards

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12 (AP)—The University of Pennsylvania is considering arming its campus guards to prevent any further attacks on coeds.

White House Features Two Space Talks

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Two White House meetings—one small and the other large—dug today into the problems of financing America's space age defenses.

President Eisenhower sought from these two groups of advisers advice on what to put into the budget he will submit to Congress when it reconvenes in January.

He talked first with Vice President Nixon, Secretary of State Dulles, Secretary of the Treasury Anderson and Budget Director Percival Brundage.

This meeting was billed in advance as devoted to the question of foreign aid, a form of expenditure Eisenhower has repeatedly called one of the most effective ways to defend America.

Other Meeting

The other meeting was an extraordinarily expanded gathering of the National Security Council—62 persons rather than the basic five who form the nucleus of this top policy-making group.

As in the case of a smaller, but still large, meeting last week, it had to be held in the broadcast room in the White House basement.

James C. Hagerty, the White House press secretary, said the meeting was of the same sort that is held every day about this time to discuss budget estimates.

The discussions this time were complicated by Russia's new strides into the space age by means of satellites and missiles. It is generally assumed that huge new amounts will be asked to press America's efforts to catch up with or offset the Russians.

Before Russia sent up its first Sputnik satellite Oct. 4 there was considerable expectation that a tax cut might be possible next year. That talk has since faded.

Recent Claim

The general struck at the recent claim of Soviet Communist Chief Nikita Khrushchev that the intercontinental ballistic missile had made warplanes obsolete.

Power declared Russian missiles could not knock out U. S. SAC bases all over the world simultaneously "and nobody knows it better than Khrushchev."

Power flew here from his U. S. headquarters for the Parliamentary Assembly this morning heard Sen. Henry Jackson (D-Wash.) propose that NATO set up a missile training center.

The plan won prompt endorsement from Gen. Cortlandt Van R. Schuyler, chief of staff of Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers in Europe, who said "we have been trying to get (this) for six months."

Supreme Commander

Like Gen. Lauris Norstad, the supreme commander in Europe, Schuyler is an American.

A high NATO source disclosed that this year the United States embarked on a program of supplying its NATO allies with missiles such as the Nike, the Honest John, and the Corporal.

He said all NATO members soon would have them. It was learned that Germany and Italy now have personnel training in the United States in the use of these weapons.

Jackson also called for a complete reappraisal of U. S. policy concerning exchanging atomic secrets with Western allies. In talks with fellow delegates, he said the West would gain greater security by sharing more information.

Flight Time

The White House said today Eisenhower will take off about 12:15 p. m. tomorrow on the flight to Oklahoma City, for the second of his series of speeches on the nation's scientific, military and economic position. He delivered the first of the series here last Thursday.

On economic matters, Eisenhower was disclosed today to have turned down a congressman's suggestion for a White House conference to explore inflation problems.

Young Beck Begins Trial

SEATTLE, Nov. 12 (AP)—Dave Beck Jr., 37, son of the outgoing Teamsters Union President, went on trial today on two counts of grand larceny.

The younger Beck is accused of embezzling $4,650 from the sale of two union-owned automobiles.

His father's trial on a grand larceny charge in connection with the sale of a third Teamsters-owned car is scheduled to get under way Dec. 2. Both Becks were indicted by a county grand jury.

Selection of a jury to try Beck Jr. is not expected to be completed before tomorrow.

Seriously Injured

HAMLIN — A 22-year-old man woke up screaming from the half-world of a nightmare here Monday night.

Blaine Shaffer had sprung from his bed, plunged down a full flight of stairs and through a plate glass door.

His left arm was nearly severed. His body was literally covered with cuts and slashes.

Shaffer lives over the store owned by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Shaffer. They live nearby. He has an apartment. His wife and their child live in it with him.

No one apparently saw the incident happen. The only information available last night was contained in the piecemeal account the injured man had given to Dr. Frank Urdel, Newfoundland physician who treated him, and officials.

According to that account, Shaffer said he had been having a terrible nightmare. He said he either ran or fell down the flight of stairs leading to the plate glass door which opens into the stairway from outside.

Members of his family were awakened by the crash. This was at about 11:35 p. m. Monday. They took him to Urdel's office in Newfoundland, five miles away.

The doctor found the man was suffering from a severe loss of blood. He treated him and ordered him moved to Hahnemann Hospital in Scranton. He was taken there in the Frey Funeral Home ambulance.

The hospital first listed Shaffer's condition as critical due to the great amount of blood he had lost. That condition had been changed to "fair" last night, however.

Adlai To Travel As Aide To Ike

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—The White House and Adlai Stevenson announced today—after considerable confusion—that he will act as Democratic consultant on pulling the Atlantic alliance closer together.

The confusion resulted from an error by Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, who told newsmen this morning that Stevenson had refused to do anything more than comment on the program after it was all prepared by the administration.

Acknowledge Error

This afternoon Hagerty acknowledged the error, and said that in fact Stevenson would consult on the program as it was being developed for presentation to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization at Paris Dec. 16.

Hagerty said Stevenson "will be kept informed of the developing program and will, we hope, discuss the items in the program with the administration before they are finalized. These comments will be more in the nature of consultations while the program is being prepared, not just public statements after the program is completed."

This announcement from Hagerty, shortly after 3 p. m., straightened out nearly day-long uncertainty. Stevenson himself had go with Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles to Paris next month, if he wants to.

Hagerty told reporters at a 3:15 p. m. news conference he was "retracted" about his error.

Stevenson appeared irked that Eisenhower had not seen fit to approach him directly. Stevenson commented in his statement that "I have had no direct contact with President Eisenhower whatever."

Misunderstanding

Hagerty, in his 3 p. m. announcement, said his error arose because he had misunderstood the meaning of the word "comment." He said Stevenson's role would be to consult on and discuss the program while it was being prepared.

A statement Stevenson had put out a half hour earlier said he had told Secretary of State Dulles a week ago "that while I could not undertake to formulate the President's policies, I would gladly review and discuss our government's proposals before they were put into final shape."

Second Place

But he dropped to second place before dawn.

The others seeking a four-year term as this island nation's chief executive were Progressive Manuel P. Manahan, who was customs commissioner under President Magasaysay, and Sen. Claro M. Recto, a critic of the United States who ran on the Nationalist-Citizens ticket.

Garcia's running mate, Nationalist House Speaker Jose B. Laurel Jr., trailed far behind the Liberal party's vice presidential candidate, Diosdado Macapagal. Campaign foes had accused Laurel of loose living and anti-Americanism. It was evident many of Garcia's followers had voted split tickets.

The late returns showed: Garcia 199,537; Yulo 172,105; Manahan 140,879; Recto 76,671; Macapagal 298,488; Laurel 151,133.

Unsolved Slaying

Testimony about the unsolved slaying of John Acropolis, president of Teamsters Local 456 in Westchester County, was given by Ed Doyle of Yonkers. Doyle succeeded Acropolis as head of the local.

The witness testified that both he and Acropolis were threatened several times in the three weeks before Acropolis was shot to death.

No Trace Of Plane

HONOLULU, Nov. 12 (AP)—Search aircraft from the carrier Philippine Sea fanned out over the Pacific today in a meticulous hunt for any of the passengers, crewmen or debris from the Pan American Stratocruiser "Romance of the Skies" lost since Friday with 44 aboard. There was no reports of sighting.

Jury Selected

HARRISBURG, Nov. 12 (AP)—Eight women and four men were chosen as a jury today to try G. Franeline McSorley, suspended chairman of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission.

Westover To Buenos Aires In 13 Hours

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 12 (AP)—Gen. Curtis Lemay gave a dramatic punch today to his claim that the global bomber has not been scrapped by the missile. He helped fly a big jet Stratotanker 6,350 miles without stopping or refueling.

The flight from Westover (Mass.) Air Force Base to Buenos Aires in just over 13 hours set new distance and speed marks for official nonstop, nonrefueling jet operation.

Lemay, famous father of the U. S. Strategic Air Command and now No. 2 man in the U. S. Air Force, may attempt an even faster flight back to the United States tomorrow in his speedy KC135 tanker, the working partner of the B52 global bomber.

"As soon as missiles are ready they will augment our bombers and at some later date they probably will replace part of our bombers," he told reporters.

Personal Opinion

But there still was a lack of "over-all efficiency" in missiles, he said, and "it is my personal opinion that there will be a place for the manned bomber for some time to come."

The "first generation" of missiles would not be as efficient as bombers, he added, and the United States was "interested in getting the very best weapon possible."

The scrappy 50-year-old Lemay himself piloted the tanker for about eight hours of the 45-mile-an-hour flight.

"It was just another cross-country flight, very pleasant," he said.

So far as known, Soviet Russia has no long-range plane comparable to the KC135 or the B52 bomber.

The Soviet TU104 jet airliner has flown 5,570 miles from Moscow to New Jersey in 1 1/4 hours—but with three refueling stops.

The previously accepted record for nonstop, nonrefueling jet flight was set in 1955 by a French Mistral which flew 1,448 miles.

A representative of the International Aeronautic Federation was aboard the Lemay plane to confirm today's flight figures.

The four-engine swept-wing KC135 took off from Westover at 4:48 p. m. yesterday and touched down here at 5:59 a. m. U. S. officials timed the flight as 13 hours, three minutes—less than the time the plane crossed scoring points after taking off and before landing.

Lemay estimated the distance at 6,350 miles, and explained that he had made a dog leg out over the Atlantic in order to stretch the distance. Most of the flight was at 35,000 feet and speeds up to 550 miles per hour were attained. Strong crosswinds up to 144 miles per hour were encountered.

The bulky Lemay, 50, is here to lead U. S. participation in Argentina's National Aviation Week.

Monroe County Education Covers Wider Fields Than In Past Years

By Leonard Randolph
THIS IS "Education Week." In Monroe County, as in the rest of the nation, education today means a far more varied thing than it did in past years. Schools in 1957 are called upon to teach a wider variety of subjects. The days of the three Rs have been replaced by the ever-broadening system of teaching children basic knowledge as a part of an overall pattern of learning to live with other human beings.

The modern principle is to carry the subject outside the textbook. Whether it goes into the darkened classroom (as is the case when films are shown), into the controlled experimentation or into the wide, wide world (as in guided tours of industrial plants, field trips to the United Nations or Washington), education is a vital, living experience made colorful and adventurous by the imagination of the teacher and his pupils.

If this broadened concept of education applies to teaching methods in classrooms, it must also be said to be true to the whole idea of educating children. Once, years ago, some children were looked upon as "too dumb to learn." There were others who never entered schools of any kind because their "cases" were thought to be hopeless. In schools less than a decade ago, there was often no provision made for the child who was somewhat slower than others his age in the process of learning.

Today, in all Monroe County schools, the need for specialized educational methods has been recognized. Some of the schools may have recognized the need long ago. But, very often, they have been prevented from setting up a desired group by unavoidable factors such as lack of funds, failure to find qualified teachers and the resistance of some parents who misunderstood the purpose of such classes and resented placement of their children in them.

EDUCATION IS A HARVEST—For children, the school is a place to grow, to learn about the world as it is and as it changes. There is a need, in modern education, for instruction slanted for the particular need of the child. Such as this "Opportunity Class" at Hamilton Township School, Sciota. As its contribution to the story of Thanksgiving and the end of the crop year, the children made this poster showing the bountiful gifts of nature to Man. Principal Edward Doney looks on appreciatively here.

For children who need special training or remedial instruction in certain courses, the schools generally provide extra time between the individual student and the teacher. This is quite often impossible, however, and when it is small groups are assembled in which the students have a mutual need for additional study.

It is in the area of special education for children who once would have been discarded by the school system that modern teaching has come farthest. Today the school without a special class of some kind is the exception.

Most schools are now also moving toward the establishment of specialized classes for children who are "gifted." At both ends of the measuring stick, the school system is geared itself to meet existing needs.

In many cases educators have had to battle their way through uninformed and suspicious blankets of public opinion where special classes are concerned.

In Monroe County, this has seldom been the case. For the most part—in great part due to the ground-work laid by Parent-Teachers Assn., with the cooperation of county education officials—special classes have been instituted as soon as the necessary teacher and room became available.

With the facilities now existing in county schools, Monroe is able to say that it is attempting, through education, to pave the way for all students toward a better life.

For parents or taxpayers who would like to see proof of the validity of special education, a simple visit to a specialized classroom is the logical answer. There are seldom good reasons that a "slow" or handicapped child cannot be taught. He requires more patience, much of the time. He often needs specific equipment and a different method of teaching and learning.

But, in the final analysis, he will emerge from his classroom as a more nearly adjusted human being. He will have a better chance of acceptance in society because he will be better able to accept and face the true image of himself.

He will have been educated—to live.

Fedorchick Fire Official At Portland

PORTLAND—Charles Fedorchick was elected assistant secretary of Portland Hook and Ladder Co. at the group's November meeting held at the Fire Hall.

A discussion took place regarding the conference that has resulted in the use of telephones connected with the Fire Hall. President Bernard Potter said the firemen are asking the public to call TW 7-6761 only when they want to report a fire.

Number Mixup
Anyone wishing to call the office for information is requested to dial TW 7-6786. Many persons, it was reported, have been dialing the fire phone number when they merely want to call the office.

The quarterly dinner meeting will be held tonight at Mt. Bethel Inn. All firemen are urged to be present as a photographer will be there to take a group picture of the company.

The annual meetings are held to discuss mutual problems, plan publicity programs for the coming year and to discuss improvement of resorts.

The group was chartered 15 years ago and each annual meeting is held at a different ranch.

Nine Apply For Post Of Health Officer

NINE applications for the position of borough health officer were received by the East Stroudsburg Board of Health at a special meeting last night.

Six of the nine applicants will be asked to appear at a meeting Nov. 27 for personal interviews, according to Stanley Melvin, board secretary.

He said selection of a man to take over the post will probably be made at that meeting.

HOW LEADING HOSPITAL STOPS SORE THROAT PAIN FAST

Amazing new iodine gargle soothes, helps heal inflamed tissues

Science now releases world's greatest germ killer in safe, pleasant gargle form for throat infections!

Doctors in leading hospital have discovered new, fast relief for painful sore throat with revolutionary new type iodine gargle. In clinical tests on hundreds of patients suffering from worst sore throat pain, over 9 out of 10 obtained relief. Doctor said, "Results were often dramatic!"

First used in babies' throats under doctors' supervision it quickly stopped the dreaded throat infection, "thrush." The secret is a remarkable scientific advance—detoxifying iodine* to make it safe yet potent to use. Here for the first time is the full power of iodine at work in a gentle soothing film so that throbbing, rasping throat feels better fast. New gargle coats raw, painful nerve ends inside throat and mouth where pain starts—while it kills bacteria that cause infection. Even hours later, germ count is practically nothing so relief lasts and lasts.

Since you ordinarily use a mouthwash or gargle anyway—why not switch to Iodine Gargle and give your family the extra protection it alone provides.

TUBE TEST PROVES THROAT-COATING ACTION

Millions saw on TV how Iodine Gargle spreads germ-killing film in test tube. Demonstration showed how same coating action works in throat to stop sore throat pain.

ONLY ISODINE GARGLE COATS THE THROAT WITH THIS SOOTHING GERM-KILLING FILM

Concentrated ISODINE Gargle now available at all druggists. Stainless, pleasant-tasting.

... And For Relief of Sore Throat Misery During the Day When You Can't Gargle...

Cancer Seminar For Dentists

TWO OF America's leading authorities on cancer of the oral cavity will speak at a one-day cancer seminar for dentists Nov. 13 in Allentown.

Dr. A. J. Harlach, president of the Monroe County Dental Society, said last night that all dentists in a 25-county area have been invited to attend the meeting. It emphasizes the dentist's role in the early detection of cancer.

Experts who will be heard are: Myron S. Aisenberg, DDS, dean of the school of dentistry at the University of Maryland and Col. Robert B. Shira, DDS, chief of oral surgery at Walter Reed Army Hospital.

The conference is sponsored by the American Cancer Society in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Department of Health.

The Continental Mark III Landau
one of four new Continental models for 1958

We invite you to see—to drive—the only completely new cars in the fine car field...

Look again. You can afford to. For in 1958, the classic Continental Mark III (above) and the Continental-inspired Lincoln Premiere and Capri (below) are priced within the reach of nearly everyone who is considering a fine car.

The reason? This is the year we have opened a modern new plant to build Lincolns and only Lincolns. Now, not only can more Lincolns be made with the scrupulous Continental eye toward elegance and detail, but they can be priced within the means of everyone with a feeling for gracious living.

Behind the wheel lies a thrill of performance and handling ease that once came alive only in the hand-built Continental of yesterday. Under that long, low hood, a new engine designed for closer tolerances and more torque than any other fine car. A new transmission with silken sensitivity. And between you and the road, a new suspension that dampens shock and noise like no other car before it.

In every respect, here is an uncommon car with uncommon elegance. A Lincoln with the clean line and sweep of the classic Continental. A Lincoln with a length, breadth and spaciousness unmatched in the fine car field. A Lincoln with a richness of detail and over-all luxury that mark it, at once, America's outstanding automotive achievement.

Make your fine car dreams come true. Today, see how easily you can own the completely new Continental Mark III or the Continental-inspired Lincolns for 1958.

Unmistakably... the finest in the fine car field

Pickets Removed From Tobyhanna Signal Depot Construction

Wage Dispute Aimed At Contractor

TOBYHANNA — A construction job at the Signal Depot here was picketed yesterday morning but the pickets were withdrawn in mid-afternoon. Involved in the dispute were workers belonging to Local 1174, International Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers of America, Allentown. They were picketing the B. J. Lucarelli Construction Co. of Jersey City, N. J. Lucarelli is general contractor on construction of the new 400-man barracks on Depot grounds.

Not involved in the picketing in any way was the Depot itself. Depot officials said that the contract for the construction job was let to Lucarelli and is his sole responsibility.

Basic Issue at stake in the picketing, apparently, was disagreement over payment of retroactive pay rises to July 1. Union officials had previously won the back pay raise agreement from the contractor. But they maintained that, although pay rises were put into effect with the effective date of the contract, no retroactive pay increases had been paid.

Because of this, the union said, it threw pickets around two gates at the Depot. Two were stationed at the gate on Route 611 and four more picketed in front of the gates facing on Route 490.

Only laborers on the job were affected by the picketing. Depot employees were not involved. Trucks carrying building supplies to the construction site did not cross picket lines, but those loaded with goods bound for the Depot itself kept on moving. No attempt was made to stop them.

Announcement that the pickets had been pulled off the job was made at about 3 p. m. by a union spokesman. He told Depot officials the question had been settled amicably.

225 Attend Annual Safety Conference

AN ESTIMATED 225 high school students, driver training teachers and college students attended the Fourth Annual Teen-Age Safety Conference at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College yesterday.

High school groups came from all parts of a seven-county area served by the local college.

The conference opened at 10 a. m. with a prayer by Howard DeNik, college safety education chief, who is one of Pennsylvania's foremost authorities on the teaching of highway safety to younger people.

The men's chorus, directed by Wilfred G. Clelland, sang a group of selections. After the audience took part in the flag salute, Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler, college president, welcomed delegates and introduced Richard Bullock, Pocono Township High School, who was chairman of the one-day meeting.

The keynote address was given by James N. Heller, driver training teacher in Liberty High School, Bethlehem. His topic was "How To Reach More People For Traffic Safety." Then the delegates split up into five groups for discussion purposes. At luncheon a movie illustrating new teaching methods in driver training was shown.

The afternoon sessions were devoted to group discussion, a panel discussion between teenagers and teachers and the closing exercises.

Copies of recommendations made by the students will be forwarded to the State Department of Highways bureau of highway safety, DeNik said.

Swiss Quit Mining Coal

GRONE, Switzerland, Nov. 12 (AP)—The Swiss have finally given up coal mining.

The only Swiss coal mine, a producer of low-grade anthracite used in blast furnaces, has closed and discharged all its 80 workers—mainly Italians who had worked here several years.

Switzerland annually imports nearly 100 million dollars worth of coal—its largest import item.

Employment Office Wins High Praise

THE EAST Stroudsburg office of the Pennsylvania State Employment Service was among those lauded yesterday for placement of handicapped persons in jobs.

William L. Batt, Jr., secretary of labor and industry, cited the local office in a speech at a luncheon meeting of the Bethlehem Employ the Handicapped Committee.

"The local employment service office in Allentown, Bethlehem, Easton, Pottstown, Reading, East Stroudsburg and Jim Thorpe made 981 job placements of handicapped persons in the first nine months of 1957," he told his audience.

Previous Periods Compared with other previous periods, we find that the nine-month placement total of 981 for 1957 is well over the 856 handicapped placements made by the seven offices for the whole year of 1955 and almost three times as many as the 372 total for the entire year of 1954.

"The total of 981 job placements of handicapped workers for the first nine months of 1957 breaks down as follows: Allentown 375; Bethlehem, 89; Easton, 62; Pottstown, 78; Reading, 219; East Stroudsburg, 135; Jim Thorpe, 23.

"These figures will be increased considerably when records for the last three months of the year are compiled."

Unbelievers Seek Full Tolerance

WARSAW, Nov. 12 (AP)—A two-day conference of the Association of Atheists and Freethinkers at Bydgoszcz this week adopted a resolution demanding full tolerance for unbelievers.

YMCA To Launch Drive For Members In January

MID-JANUARY has been set as the date to launch the annual membership drive of the Monroe County YMCA.

E. Holt Wyckoff, campaign chairman, announced this last night at the November meeting of the board of directors at the YMCA.

The four team captains will meet within the next few weeks to perfect plans for the annual drive, the chairman said.

John R. Wilson, general secretary, reported that two rooms in the basement of the new building are being conditioned to permit an expansion of YMCA activities.

On room is being outfitted as a craft shop. At least five power tools will be installed for use by boys interested in learning industrial arts. The YMCA Auxiliary will pay the instructor's salary.

A new recreational room is also planned. It will include pool and other games. The room will be supervised by a group of men who have volunteered their services on a rotating basis.

Wilson also reported that arrangements are being made to accommodate more than 200 boys Dec. 6, 7 and 8 at the Eastern Pennsylvania Older Boys Conference here. The program will include a tour of the Tobyhanna Signal Depot, where the boys will eat their lunch Saturday noon. Their dinners Friday and Saturday will be served at the Stroudsburg Methodist Church.

Thomas Kistler, treasurer, said the building fund indebtedness had been reduced $2,000 in the last month with the payment of $500 to each of the four local banks. The current indebtedness is $18,000, he said. This is a reduction of $15,000 from the amount owed before the special building fund drive last Summer when $16,800 was pledged. Kistler said the pledges in the amount of $1,790 are still outstanding.

President Alex Bensinger named a nominating committee to select a slate of nine new directors and one trustee for election at the January meeting. On the committee are J. L. Cohen, Earl Grover, Mrs. Clifford Heller, Loring Cramer and E. Holt Wyckoff.

Wilson reported increased interest in all branches of YMCA activity since the beginning of cooler weather. Attendance, he said, is increasing in gym classes, swimming, clubs and special activities. The same is true at the Barrett and Mount Pocono branches, Wilson said.

Warm Winds Rule Most Of Nation

By The Associated Press
MILD weather was the rule throughout most of the nation yesterday as clear skies and southerly winds routed a cool snap in the Northeast.

The mercury dipped to a cheery 19 degrees at Concord, N.H., and to 20 at Hartford, Conn., but afternoon sunshine sent the temperature climbing to the 50-degree level in parts of New York and southern New England.

Southerly Winds
A broad flow of southerly winds, triggered by disturbance in the western Gulf of Mexico, increased cloudiness in the Southeast and spread rains northeastward from Texas.

By midday, the rain belt had advanced northward into Kansas and Missouri and eastward into the lower Mississippi Valley. The rain was expected to extend eastward to the Appalachians.

Temperatures generally were expected to remain on the mild side.

Helping Small Business

"In your home stores you're the boss... to the stores in other towns you're just a clerk." This is the heading on a clipping sent to us from the Alpine, Tex., Avalanche.

Now seems an appropriate time to quote from the advertisement because one of the most important segments of American business is in grave peril. We're speaking of small business—the really small business establishments such as exist in Monroe County and throughout all America.

These businesses are operated by the type of people who fought for and preserved the freedoms which we, as Americans, enjoy today. But failures of small businesses are increasing in an alarming manner. They are being caught in the squeeze resulting from competition among the large corporations.

You rank first in the stores of your community. Your wants and needs are the blueprint for your home businessmen. Your wishes rule their decisions as to kind, quality and prices of the goods and services they offer.

The more you patronize the home merchant the more he is able to contribute to the community in the form of employment, taxes, support of civic and charitable activities and the general welfare of the region.

In other cities, you are not one of the folks the businessmen are most interested in serving.

True, they like to see you coming, because none of the profit made on your purchases has to be spent helping to run your school, pay your preacher, or contribute to the support of your community. This makes your business real gravy to them.

All of us can help the small businesses of our community by supporting them with our purchases. Our investment will come back to us in the nature of a better community in the years to come.

Opinions Of Other Editors

The University And The Army

Private Ernest Shult has been reassigned from shuffling papers for the Army to the Weapons Research Branch and the reason is that Private Shult is a mathematical genius.

"The outstanding one I have encountered in 30 years," was the public mark given him by his old professor at Southern Illinois University. Geneticist Carl C. Lindgren accused the Army of "letting Shult wither on the vine."

It turns out that when Private Shult reported to the Army his papers showed that while he had certainly attended college he hadn't got his degree. He lacked one credit in physical education.

Now the Army makes its share of mistakes, to be sure, and maybe it should have gone past the lack of a degree and found out something more about Private Shult.

But when it comes to red tape and withering on the vine, we sort of wonder if the Army is to blame.

After all, it wasn't the Army but his university that decided its outstanding mathematical genius of 30 years didn't deserve a degree because he hadn't totaled enough pushups.

Robert S. Allen Reports...

Red Sub Fleet Grows

Washington, Nov. 12—Russia has an estimated 200 submarines which are equipped to fire specialized ballistic missiles capable of carrying nuclear warheads a distance of more than 400 miles at supersonic speeds.

Further, this already-powerful fleet of missile-armed subs is growing at the rate of one new sub a week.

At present, the Soviet has some 600 underwater craft of all types. It is authoritatively known that Kremlin plans to build a total of 1,200 submarines by 1965.

A huge armada of fast and potentially armed underwater vessels is the Red's answer to the U.S. long-range bombing Strategic Air Command.

That is the latest grim information obtained from Pentagon officials by the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee, which is getting ready for a full-scale investigation of the hotly controversial guided missiles program.

This data regarding Russia's sinister submarine strength follows on the heels of other ominous disclosures by Defense Department authorities. As revealed in this column, last Friday, Senators Lyndon Johnson (D., Tex.), head of the Preparedness Subcommittee, Richard Russell (D., Ga.), chairman of the Armed Services Committee, and Styles Bridges, N. H., head of the Republican Policy Committee, learned the following at a private Pentagon briefing:

Russia has a stockpile of an estimated 20,000 intermediate range ballistic missiles, designed to carry nuclear warheads for distances of from 800 to 1,200 miles. These fearsome weapons are being produced at the rate of 2,000 a month. The Reds are at least one year ahead of the U.S. in developing an intercontinental ballistic missile, with a range of 5,000 miles.

In contrast to the Soviet's operational naval ballistic missile, the U.S. Navy has still to test-fire its POLARIS.

There has been one successful test of a POLARIS-C, a short-range version of this intercontinental ballistic missile. The first POLARIS test is slated in December at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Russian missile subs are equipped to fire their nuclear-armed weapons in three different ways. They are as follows, as described to Senate Preparedness subcommittee:

(1) From launching racks on the subs' decks, (2) from torpedo tubes when these vessels are submerged, and (3) vertically through the conning tower.

According to Naval Intelligence, Red missile subs have been sighted in the Baltic Sea and the Pacific. In every instance, they were accompanied by missile-armed surface vessels. The latter craft also have been observed in the Mediterranean.

Politicians Look To 1960

It is three years before the next Presidential election and already in each party plans are being laid by numerous and sundry politicians to win public approval and to get themselves nominated for the Presidency. Probably none of them will get it because it is characteristic of American politics that those who start too early get winded on the way.

Gov. Robert Meyner of New Jersey was re-elected by a wide margin. His Republican opponent, Malcolm Forbes, ran as an Eisenhower Republican. A governor of a state need not be for or against Eisenhower because the issues that interest voters in such elections are usually local.

Besides Meyner happens to be a popular personality in his own state, rather handsome, with a very pretty young wife, and he has never been accused of stealing public money. So, what is the argument against him?

Bernard Shanley, the President's secretary, added the only value to the Republican side of the campaign, by denouncing Meyner for his A. D. A. associations, but Forbes was for Modern Republicanism, which is not very different. Shanley laid a good foundation for himself to run for United States Senator; but he could not overcome the general Republican opposition to the Sherman Adams brand of Republicanism.

Now Meyner is already being boosted for the presidency and the point is being made that he can do better than Senator John Kennedy of Massachusetts. Also Mayor Robert Wagner is being referred to as a possibility because of the very large vote he got in New York City.

It is suggested that Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas cannot be nominated because of the integration question and that maybe the Northern Democrats are about ready to tell the Southern Democrats to go to blazes.

The truth of the matter is that there is no longer any real political parties in the United States. The Republican Party is so lacking in appeal that even the Wall Streeters who make millions during the first Eisenhower Administration, decline to contribute funds for various Republican purposes which is disgusting ingratitude on their part. The New York City majority campaign witnessed the amazing spectacle of a Republican candidate running without any money at all.

On the other hand, the Democrats are divided between Northerners and Southerners, between the A. D. A. crowd and the conservative, traditional Democrats. This cleavage is fundamental and must soon reach a point of departure. It is the Northern Democrats rather than the Eisenhower Republicans who brought on integration in its present form.

It started way back in the era of Franklin D. Roosevelt. At that time, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt proved herself to be a great, good friend of the Negro, whereas the agile Franklin Delano avoided just such pitfalls as Eisenhower walked into. It was all brilliantly done and Roosevelt took the place of the sacred Abraham Lincoln as the patron saint of the Negro race and a younger generation of Negroes in the Northern cities has grown up who have forgotten the Republicans altogether.

Again, in both New York City and in New Jersey, the Negro districts went solidly Democratic.

The Southerner who does not believe in integration and assimilation faces the cold historic fact that it was his party which brought on all his troubles and that they exploded in his face in Eisenhower's time but that was accidental like Herbert Hoover getting Warren Harding's depression.

The Southerner also faces the very grave prospect that it could happen that in some states all the elected officials will, in the future, be Negroes and that all measures taken to prevent that eventuality will be nullified by the Supreme Court of the United States. At that point, what becomes of the Democratic Party in the South?

For instance, what binds Senator Eastland of Mississippi to Senator Douglas of Illinois, or what binds Senator Humphrey of Minnesota to Senator Olin Johnston of South Carolina? These are very practical questions bearing on who is to be the Democratic candidate for President in 1960 and whether such a candidate might be elected in spite of the doddering weakness of the Republican Party.

The 1960 Democratic Convention may create a new Democratic Party as the 1952 Republican Convention left the Republican Party a sickly instrument. It could be that the time is ripe for a new division of parties, perhaps a Conservative Party and a Labor Party which would be more meaningful than the present arrangement.

Behind The Scenes

In Hollywood

Hollywood — After wife Elaine took her overseas shots, bought $800 worth of new luggage and dashed to New York, Mickey Rooney had to call off her European vacation.

"But Elaine understood," Mickey assured me. "I wasn't told until after I did the 'Pinocchio' show that my son, Timmy, had been stricken with polio. With him in the hospital, I didn't think I should be taking off for Europe. So Elaine and I came home."

Timmy, (Mickey's son by the former Betty Jane Rose) is in Glendale sanitarium, but will have no after effects, and should be released within a few weeks.

Meanwhile, Mick says he expects to be back before the cameras soon in UA's "Third of Man."

The farewells between Natalie Wood and Bob Wagner at the International Airport (before Bob took off on his "Stop-over Tokyo" P. A. tour) were among the year's best love scenes.

As on the "Marjorie Morningstar" locations in New York, Natalie's mother will chaperone her when she goes to Carmel to start filming "Kings Go Forth." And, according to mama, Bob Wagner will join them on the new location, too.

In "The Buccaneer," you'll see Yul Brynner with hair, but he tells me he probably will go back to a bald pate in his next picture, "The Journey," which he'll make in Europe in partnership with Anatole Litvak. He'll be accompanied by his wife and son and won't be back in Hollywood until July.

Talk about luck! Ken Murray's new TV series is called "Sky Dogs" and the first episode, filmed long before the Russians launched Sputnik II, is titled "Sky Dog in Space."

The Pennsylvania Story

GOP Shuns Ike Aid

By Mason Denison
Harrisburg — Pennsylvania Republicans in their bid for the governorship next year may wind up their campaign strategy by "going it alone."

By this it is not meant that the Keystone State GOP had planned on any sort of an assist from their Democratic arch rivals.

It is known however that up to this point at least Republican leaders had been counting on campaign aid from Washington where the Republican Eisenhower Administration holds sway in the executive branch.

Several factors of recent note have combined to cause GOP leaders around Capitol Hill to give second thought as to just how far—if at all—they should go in seeking assistance from the administration in Washington.

First is the painful and somewhat nettling fact that in the past two years, for the most part those candidates backed by the Eisenhower Administration have failed miserably at the polls.

There have been exceptions, of course, but on the whole major offices sought by Republicans with the Eisenhower blessing have stumbled at the finish line.

One of the most recent and noteworthy examples occurred only last week when Ike-man and Nixon-assisted Malcolm S. Forbes was somewhat thoroughly trounced by Democratic incumbent Robert B. Meyner in the run-off for the New Jersey gubernatorial bid.

Recent events such as this have upset the aplomb of GOP strategists not only in Pennsylvania but elsewhere throughout the nation. There is serious question in the minds of a number of GOP leaders around Capitol Hill as to whether Washington these days can offer an assist in its true sense—or not.

Much can happen between now and the general election a year from now which may improve the picture—or which conceivably may do more damage.

The fact is that as of the moment however GOP aides are not optimistic.

Strange as it may seem and far away as it may be, the Russian beat on the United States in the field of space misery is also having its effect.

With the Eisenhower Administration already being pelted and blamed for this country's lag in this all-important field, the reflection already is being felt in Republican circles generally.

None deny that when Congress convenes next year Democratic anti-administration leaders are expected to lose no time in making political hay out of the technological loss this country has already sustained.

The Republican Eisenhower Administration of course is being held responsible.

All of this bleeds right down to the state level.

Pennsylvania Democrats already are bent on making capital out of the situation—the most notable example being the persistent hammering, particularly by Governor Leader, on the college scholarship program advocated by Democrats in the legislative session earlier this year but torpedoed by GOP legislative leaders.

It is the contention of Democratic leaders that such a college training program is essential in the training of scientists and technicians if the United States hopes to even keep up with Russian scientific advances.

The point is—such factors as these may well combine to send Pennsylvania's GOP striking out on its own next year with little or no assistance from the administration in Washington. If so, it will be one of the first times in the history of the Commonwealth.

Good Evening Ladies!

Hubby Must Share His Den

By Ken Duval

It always amuses me to hear from a young husband who has just been initiated into the Society of Bewildered Men, an organization of married males of which I have the honor to be founding father and president.

One downy-chinned lad, still very damp behind the ears, wants to know whether he isn't entitled to a "den."

In a pre-nuptial agreement he was promised that a certain corner of the new love nest was to be his, and his alone—a little spot where he could store his possessions and which would be exempt from female depredation. This place, he says, wasn't even to be dusted or "straightened up" without his express permission and personal supervision. It hasn't come out that way.

Welcome, brother, to the Society. As an old campaigner in the marital wars, let me tell you how this arrangement works out. To save space, I can tell you, now, that it doesn't work at all.

The trouble seems to be that wives have no appreciation of the value of things a man considers precious. What may be a sacred thing to a husband is junk and a dust-catcher to his wife, and unless he stands guard over it 24 hours a day it will wind up in the ashcan. What to him is comfort is disorder to her. "Pig pen," I believe, is the most common term applied to a man's sanctuary.

I've always had "my own" room, referred to reverently as "father's room." It contains my desk, reference books, typewriter, files and mementoes of my misspent life, the latter being souvenirs of past sins which I cherish and for which I am unrepentant.

It also contains one dress-maker's dummy, a broken vacuum cleaner, a sewing-machine, 47 pairs of discarded shoes, a chromo of my mother-in-law, the dog's sleeping basket, unseasonal dresses and suits, and extra blankets for the guest room.

Losing Ground Rapidly

What was once my room has now become my corner. Moreover, my prized possessions are disappearing with alarming regularity. I have moved some of them to the most unlikely hiding places, but it does little good. One outstanding example of this pilfering was my copy of a rare volume of photographic studies, widely used in art schools, it says on the cover, and which I put in a barrel in the basement under some discarded clothing.

Then, there were my fishing pants that I never permitted to be cleaned and which I had worn for some 15 years and loved because of their wild, outdoor aroma. Also a half pound of imported cheese I had hidden in a collapsible pot hat and had plans for. Both gone.

Among other things which I had been led to believe never would be disposed of until after my funeral, when the widow started cleaning up after me, were a faded photograph showing me at the beach with a girl whose name foolishly is banned in this house, a baby picture of her stretched out on a bear rug and which I once displayed at a party, a quart of dragon's blood tonic given to me by a Chinese friend and guaranteed to lift the spirits, and a ten dollar bill, my mad money which I had planned to use in my get-away in case I ever got fed up with things.

Don't bank too much on a room of your own, my young friend. No matter how lovely and charming wives may be, I suspect they all have a few drops of camel blood in them. Once they get their heads inside a man's tent, you can count on their getting all the way in. Husbands and Arabs should know this.

The Once Over

by H. I. Phillips

Synopsis for one of Ike's speeches: Fellow citizens: Let's face it! We goofed.

We're all to blame and I'll take my share of it. There is one clear call now: Out of the luxury upholstery and into the ballistic ball game! Our very must switch from "Gimme-Gimme" to "On the double, Buster!" There is no need for panic. But the hour for assuming no other country could touch America as a wonder-worker and miracle-passer is over. We didn't fiddle while Rome burned, but we dawdled while Moscow gave us the hotfoot.

Your Uncle Sam has never yet finished second, but we may not even get into the photo finish unless we take off our rose-colored glasses, cut the baloney, forget pie-in-the-sky can be a missile in an orbit and put sacrifice, toil and the wallop ahead of snappy commercials, box-top contests and fancier front bumpers.

"Get this: There can be no fringe benefits in the error column of a global box-score. There can be no security in a national imitation of Rip Van Winkle. While we Americans were munching tranquilizers on beach rattles, rolling in de luxe comforts and enjoying calypto, the Russians were putting such things far below scientific achievement and performance for use when the chips were down. Fights for survival don't depend on four front headlights, smarter swimsuits, brighter stationwagon color schemes and fancy beer containers. Sometimes I think we would have had the Sputnik first if we hadn't waited for a suitable jingle, and a filter-tip to go on the satellite. It is time to put our noses to the grindstone. And I don't mean a grindstone that has Hi-Fi attachments and gives jackpot prizes. It is later than you think. I thank you."

You can't say that in the satellite matter Uncle Sam dogged it... A motor scooter has been perfected to cover a ball field with tarpaulin in 70 seconds... Jupe Pluvius should stop trying to beat baseball and decide to join it... Ina Dodo says she wanted to vote for the bingo amendment but nobody would give her a card... It seems odd to see Billy Burke on video delivering a commercial for cinnamon buns... Jasper McLevey, who lost out in Bridgeport after being mayor for 22 years, won his first term on the Socialist ticket, and got country-wide headlines... Harry Hennessy, radio newscaster, has the most staccato delivery on the air. His words come out like popping bottle corks... Bingo made legal in New York State, if approved by the community, will be watched over by a State, Kernel-and-Card Commission... It won't take women's complaints that the number-caller stutters, or act on a husband's phone call. "The wife has been missing five nights. Isn't it your duty to help me find her?"... Goodwin Jess Knight will run for the U. S. Senate, dismissing the idea that a reference to him as "Good" Knight can be costly.

He was tackled by a member of the theater staff and the contents of the bag recovered while a large crowd watched on the street.

Try and Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

Some years ago, when author Truman Capote looked even more like a cherubic, innocent little boy than he does today, he caught the attention of an elderly lady on two separate occasions while he buried himself in weighty tomes at the New York Society Library. Finally she invited him to have tea with her at Schrafft's.

"Tell me," she said there, "what are you young people reading nowadays?" Truman toyed with a crumplet, and replied, "Speaking for myself, the book I enjoyed most this year is 'My Antonia.' Have you ever read it?"

"As a matter of fact," said the lady, "I wrote it."

"I was so overwhelmed," recalls Capote, "that I almost persuaded Willa Cather to let me pay the check."

The body consists of almost 50 per cent water, which must be replaced continually.

SIX DONORS—Six of the 80 blood donors are shown either giving or just finished donating blood at the East Stroudsburg Elks Lodge yesterday. The donations brought Monroe County almost up to its regular quota.

Bloodmobile Unit Collects 80 Pints

RED CROSS Bloodmobile unit workers collected 80 pints of blood yesterday at the Elks Club stop.

Bloodmobile workers praised the turnout of donors from industry as "one of the finest we've had in recent months." They said that nearly all those who donated blood yesterday were from local industrial plants.

Unit Spokesman Mrs. Walter Dreher, Bloodmobile unit spokesman, also noted that blood donations in the county were now only 11 short of the 125-pint monthly quota for November. Added to the number of pints collected yesterday at the Elks center were 34 donated in Barrett Township earlier this month.

A total of 82 persons registered to give blood yesterday at the Elks, Mrs. Dreher said. Two of those were "deferred", according to mobile unit officials. There were five walk-ins.

Diamond Found In Liberia

MONROVIA, Nov. 12 (AP) — President William V. S. Tubman told the legislature in his annual message that Liberia has large proven deposits of diamonds and many will be reserved for Liberians.

The government plan calls for concessionaires to exploit diamonds in river basins and for Liberians exclusively to work those in all rivers and rivulets.

Last Rites Featured For C. E. Metzgar

FUNERAL services for Claude E. Metzgar, 65, of Anomink, were held yesterday in the Lanterman Funeral Home.

Rev. Justin Feltham officiated and burial was in Anomink Cemetery.

Pallbearers were C. A. Coleman, Earl Hallett, Roy Sebring, R. C. Bates, George Halterman and Edward Butz.

Accountants To Hold Session

JOSEPH F. McClernon, controller of the City of Bethlehem, will address the Lehigh Valley Chapter of the National Association of Accountants during a technical session to be held Friday night at the Cedar Club, Bethlehem.

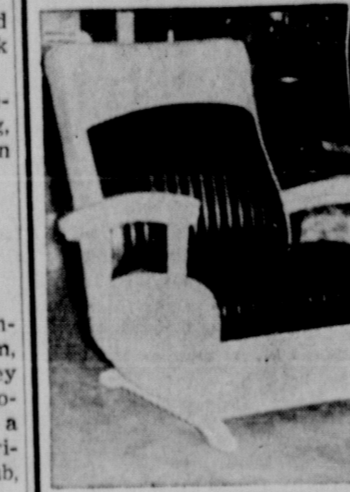

The remarks of the speaker in discussing "Municipal Finances in the Third Class City of Pennsylvania" will be based partly on the municipal budget.

Services Held For A. R. Buck

A REQUIEM High Mass for Arthur R. Buck, East Stroudsburg, RD 3, was celebrated yesterday in St. Matthew's Church.

Rev. Francis Barrett was celebrant with Rev. William Cusick as deacon and Rev. John Esseff as sub-deacon. Burial was in St. Catherine's Cemetery, Moscow, Pa.

Pallbearers were Walter Peterson, Anthony Archer, Howard Dippre, Elwood Grant, James Schultz and Nelson Lightner. Arrangements were directed by the William R. Thomas Funeral Home.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Analogies don't always live up to expectations. I often tend to think of clubs in terms of family life. Not always "one, big, happy family" I'll admit. But they do have a lot in common.

Even the bickering has a familiar ring. "It's not my turn!" "Susie never helps, just sits there and criticizes what I'm doing." "You just leave my things alone after this!" "Mamaa! Jennie's making a snoot at me!"

Well, they phrase it more elegantly and seldom so frankly, but the underlying feeling is there, as well as the more important feeling of family solidarity and a common goal.

But as I started to say, you can't always compare the two. Certainly in no family I ever saw did everybody rally around when there was a lot of work to be done — not voluntarily, that is. Most likely everybody in the family immediately thinks of pressing business elsewhere.

But strange as it seems, each year the meeting of the Ann Logan when they cut up fruit cake from 7 p.m. to any old hour is always one of the best attended of the year. And it isn't that it's easy. Nuts, dates and raisins are sticky stuff to work with. Fingers get tired and arms ache. But there they are every year, working away and talking just as fast as they work.

Maybe that's the secret. It's sit-down work that has everybody close together, and it's the kind of work that leaves the mind and the tongue free to ramble. Too often, work around the house banishes one of the family to the kitchen. If it requires cooperation, like holding a tack while somebody hammers or the ladder while somebody reaches, somebody's always getting hurt and resentful.

Secret Pals, Moose Lodge, Meet Tonight

The Secret Pal Club and the Women of the Moose will hold a combined meeting tonight at the home of Mrs. Helen Roberts, East Stroudsburg.

For the secret pals it will be the regular meeting with election of officers on the agenda. For the Women of the Moose it will take the place of the regular lodge meeting postponed from last week.

Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Ann Divine are co-hostesses.

The Child And His Art, PTA Theme

From the talk by Miss Joan Flagler, art instructor in the elementary schools of Stroud Union, the parents attending the Clearview Parent-Teachers Assn. gained some constructive suggestions for encouraging their children in art work.

Miss Flagler, illustrating her talk with paintings done by children over the years, emphasized that there are stages of advancement in art, each of which may be used to encourage the child's interest.

The "scribbling" stage may last from two year olds to ten year olds, and may be used to experiment with various types of material, to teach them to use them correctly, and how to keep themselves clean.

In the form stage, the children are conscious of form and draw blocks and circles, although color has no relationship to reality.

In the symbolic stage, children try to convey feelings and experience to paper. Parents at this stage should not ask what a particular object is supposed to be but rather to ask the child what the painting means to him.

The fourth, or expression, stage is the most advanced and here the child may be encouraged to use nature as a source of beauty, to study the effect of color and various materials, and to use their imaginations.

At the business meeting, it was announced that the PTA now has 250 paid members. Helen Meyer was named chairman of the rummage sale to be held November 22 and 23.

Ralph Knauf announced that the children were now being given band opportunities and taken to the high school twice a month for instruction.

December meeting of the PTA will be an open house.

BATTER UP for almost half a ton of holiday fruit cake being baked this week by the Ann Logan Society for the benefit of the General Hospital. Everybody's on the team for the big project. Here Mrs. Thomas I. Metzgar, president, makes with the mixing, while Mrs. Nelson Beers and Mrs. Jacob Shafer take time out from a busy night to strike a baseball pose with a ball of dates. The date deadline for orders is tomorrow.

Ann Logan Hospital Society Have Fruit Cakes In Oven

EVERYBODY "PLAYS BALL" when the Ann Logan fruit cake project gets under way, and the meeting on Monday night at the Stroudsburg Methodist Church was no exception with one of the largest attendances of the year on hand to help.

They came complete with aprons, paring knives, scissors and cutting board, and worked so efficiently that the ingredients for 900 pounds of fruit cake were prepared, and the first batch baked. Throughout the week they will be baking and wrapping the cake for delivery before the holidays.

Orders for the cakes, which come in one and a half, two, three, and five pound sizes, may be called in to Mrs. Eva Brodsky, 2302. Final day of baking is Thursday and since the fruit cake is sold on a "first come, first served" basis (orders should be called in by that time).

At the informal business meeting, it was announced that the Birthday and Meeting Calendars would be ready for distribution at the December meeting. The annual Christmas program will also be presented at that time when members may bring gifts.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Russell Harmon, chairman; Mrs. Nelson Beers, Mrs. J. A. LeBar and Mrs. A. Roe Bush.

Open House Schedule For Morey School

All teachers will be in their rooms at the Morey School tonight between 7 and 8:30 p.m. for the open house scheduled by the Parent-Teachers Assn. in observance of American Education Week. The home room mothers will assist the teachers and accept PTA memberships.

The schedule of home room mothers is as follows: Kindergarten, Miss Louise Dunkelberger, teacher; morning; Mrs. William Hoffman, Mrs. Lloyd Manner; afternoon, Mrs. George Biggs, Mrs. Douglas A. Greene, Jr.

Grade 1, Mrs. Marian Baldwin; Mrs. William Brown, Mrs. Daniel Blythwood, Mrs. Helen Igler; Mrs. Daniel Warner, Mrs. Russell Scheller.

Parents Plan Open House At Parochial School

St. Matthew's Parochial School Parents Assn. planned for an open house to be held this Sunday at 2 p.m. at the school and for a family Christmas party for the children in December at the meeting held Monday night in the school auditorium.

Named to the reception committee for the open house were: Mrs. Thomas Sommers, Mrs. Gladys Fleming, Mrs. Guy Nicolas, Mrs. Jay Martin, Mrs. Paul Hart and Mrs. Sam Miraglia.

The December meeting of the association will be held December 9 at 7:30 p.m. in the form of a family Christmas party for the children. Each child must be accompanied by at least one parent. Santa Claus will be there and refreshments will be served by the fourth and fifth grade mothers.

Earl Sluter of the faculty of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College was guest speaker, explaining the value of films used in present day teaching methods and other audio and visual aids to the learning process.

Rev. John Esseff outlined what parents could do for the pre-school child to prepare him for entering school.

James Scanlon presided at the business meeting when reports were given by Mrs. Harold Bosard and Mrs. Harvey Hunt on the hot lunch program; by Mrs. John Schnaitman on the membership drive and Joseph Ciampi on the treasurer's report.

Refreshments were served by the sixth grade mothers, Mrs. Lincoln Kutsher, Mrs. Paul Hart and Mrs. Robert Davenport.

Banquet Committee Has Meeting

Bartonsville — A meeting of the Christmas banquet committee of the Pocono Garden Club was held at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Frank Herting, of Bartonsville, on Monday night, Nov. 4. Plans were made for Christmas exhibits and it was decided that place for the banquet would be voted upon by the members of the club at the Nov. 12 meeting.

Those present were Mrs. Charles Besecker, Mrs. Haviland Heller, Mrs. Stanley Hartman, Mrs. Estelle Granacher, Mrs. Ruth Learn and Mrs. Frank Herting.

Legal Lights To Speak At Stroud Club

Members of the Stroud Community Club will have a chance to get straightened out on "Popular Misconceptions of the Law" at their meeting on Thursday night at 8 p.m. in the YMCA. A panel discussion of that subject has been arranged by the Monroe County Bar Assn.

Members of the panel of attorneys will include Louis Weiss Mirandon, Lee Barnes, Koehler and Edwin Krawitz.

Special music will include harp solos by Elizabeth Ann Dietz, 11-year old musician from Pen Argyl, arranged by Mrs. Paul Hart, music chairman for the month.

Members are reminded to bring books for the book shelves at the General Hospital being serviced by the Stroud Club.

A meeting of the executive board has been called for 7:30 p.m. preceding the meeting.

Hostesses are headed by Mrs. Frank Meyers, chairman; and include Mrs. C. R. Bensinger Jr., Mrs. William Brinker, Mrs. Paul Flory, Mrs. W. D. Kitson, Mrs. Earl Miller, Mrs. Fred Feller and Mrs. Elvin Ace.

Never a dull moment! Blanche Mackey reports that a woman telephoned recently in a high state of excitement and she wanted a repair man right away. Something had happened, and she was afraid to turn on her electric oven. Questioning finally brought forth the information that the oven itself was in perfect condition . . . as a matter of fact, there was a cake ready to be lifted from it. But the lady had mislaid her pot holder, and was positive it was somewhere in the oven . . . so she was afraid to turn the current on again for fear of starting a fire.

Blanche was mystified. "Honey," she soothed, "if you've looked all through the oven and can't find it, you're perfectly safe . . . there's just no place in a Frigidaire oven a potholder could hide."

The lady was unconvinced. Blanche suggested she remove the broiler and look there, while she held the wire. The customer did. No luck—and no potholder. Blanche suggested looking in the drawer that holds the pots and pans. The customer did. No luck—no potholder. Blanche finally connected her with the service department, and a repairman promised to rush over, in plenty of time for her to prepare her supper.

A few minutes later the customer telephoned back. She was sorry, she said, but the repairman wasn't needed. After she'd calmed down, she'd made a systematic search of her kitchen, and found the potholder where it had lodged between stove and counter-top.

Which reminds me of the day in Schenectady when my oven refused to turn on. I too was desperate, and sent out an SOS for a repair man. A few minutes after he entered the house, he was ready to leave. "But what was wrong?" I demanded, "I thought the whole thing was ready for the junk man."

He scowled. "Look, lady," he said, "there wasn't a thing wrong with your oven . . . except that your kid had been fooling with the timer. The only time your oven would have gone on is twelve o'clock noon, or midnight. Someone had set it that way."

It cost me 4.00 that day to learn something about an electric range—an expensive first lesson that stood me in good stead many times, and which may, even this minute, solve the frustration of some brand new owner of an electric stove. After all, this push-button age isn't quite as uncomplicated as the manufacturers would have us believe!

Carrie Rusk tells me that this is the season for Fancy Pants, and that her sportswear department offers quite a delightful assortment. The latest to arrive are black flannel with all-over white eyelet design, perfectly adorable worn with a white blouse. One style, which fits as snugly as the paper on the wall, is of flannel in solid color, with a zippered leg. Another favorite, which has everyone charmed, is a black cotton knit with slim, Capri-length pants edged in white lace. These have two matching blouses—one, a brief cardigan, the other a scoop-neck style edged with the lace. I honestly feel that men don't mind having a woman around who "wears the pants," when she looks as pert and pretty as these do.

Looking for a handbag to carry to work, and not wishing to spend very much, I discovered a rather fabulous shipment of plastics in our store, selling at 2.98 plus tax. They are lined, believe it or not, with genuine leather, and have an expensive look. So much did I admire them, I bought one for Christmas giving . . . and when Jean Decker was wrapping it, at least five other persons saw it, were impressed by the price, and purchased of the same lot. There are varied styles and colors . . . today's hint on a good buy that's really worth "purse-uing."

THIS IS National Education Week. Throughout the nation schools, colleges and universities are holding programs designed to show the American public the aims and results of academic training.

The physical education teacher has a big part in this setup. While health education is only one cog in the machine which does more to make better citizens of our youth, it is a most important duty.

Years ago, the "phys ed" program was one which consisted of a man or woman faculty member throwing a ball at a gym class and saying "Go to it."

Today, however, the physical education teacher has a well-rounded, constructive program built on the basic idea "that strong bodies make strong minds."

Intra-mural sports activities and varsity and junior varsity team participation share in this phase of athletics in education. Like in the classroom where marks or letters grade students from F to A, the student on the sports field and gym, is tested on his or her ability to perform adequately.

Education is bounded on many sides by tenacious that lead to better living. Physical education has a meaningful part in this octopus of life. It seems ridiculous to say, but, both are here to stay.

Bill Stone had the hottest arm in the Industrial Bowling League last week. Bill hammered out a 577 via 222 single-ton.

In the average department, Oscar Stuckey holds a 13-point edge over his nearest competitor, Jim Harmon Sr. Stuckey owns a 193 norm, while Harmon boasts a 180.

Bob Smith established a new high single for the first half when he clobbered the pins for a 244.

Other high three-game sets were Stuckey, 571; Harold Stetler, 542; Smith, 563; Harry Andrews, 556.

Bob Burrows, East Stroudsburg High's faculty manager of athletics, is becoming quite a kegger. Burrows who normally averages 152, turned star over night this week in the East Stroudsburg Churned a 257 single and a 600 series.

His great pin-topping enabled his team — Presbyterian — to defeat Methodist for three points.

Tom Sommers hit the best three-game series in the Commercial "B" Bowling League this week, posting a 587 tally. Trailing were Sam Strunk, 581, and Steve Balick, 559.

Oscar Stuckey paces the average men in the Monroe Classic League with a 186.19, followed closely by Ralph Van Why with 186.2, and Jake Nittel and Tom Sommers with 185 each.

Sommers, with 610, and Russ Dennis Jr. with 601, headed the three-game leaders in the loop's last outing.

Kenny Fetherman went out in front in the averages in the Monroe County League, Kenny upped his kegger to 177 per, one point better than Sam Strunk's 176. In third place is Al Poorman with 175.

Carl Strunk led all bowlers in the circuit last week with a trio of 578, and a one-gamer of 228.

Johnny Javitt and Kenny Barnes were the top men in the Eastburg Church League. Johnny hit 567, and Ken came in with a 557.

Dick Fabel is the average leader with 170, followed by Bill Bennett, 162, and Barnes, 165; and Bill Fry, 162.

Texas A&M Still On Top AP Poll

Oklahoma, Auburn 2nd, 3rd In Nation

By The Associated Press
TEXAS A&M, Oklahoma and Auburn, with 22 victories and no defeats among them, continued to dominate The Associated Press college football poll today. The powerful Aggies, who can wrap up the Southwest Conference title this Saturday, held first place by a comfortable margin.

With 184 of the nation's sports writers and broadcasters participating, Texas A&M received 60 first place votes and 1,577 points on the usual basis of 10 for first, nine for second etc. The Aggies, unbeaten in eight starts, go up against Rice this weekend in what could be the conference clincher.

The competition for second place was much closer with Oklahoma edging Auburn by only eight points. The Sooners, 7-0 for the season, collected 46 first place votes and 1,411 points. Auburn was put on top by 42 voters and drew 1,403 points.

The 10 leading teams remained virtually unchanged. Michigan State held the No. 4 position followed by Iowa and Ohio State. Tennessee, by virtue of its 21-6 conquest of Georgia Tech last Saturday, moved up two notches to seventh place.

Navy 9th
Navy and Army dropped from seventh and eighth to ninth and 10th as Mississippi jumped into the eighth spot. Mississippi edged Louisiana State 14-12 and is unbeaten in the Southeastern Conference.

Duke's Blue Devils, who tied Navy 6-6, head the second 10. Then come Mississippi State, Virginia Military, Clemson and Illinois. VMI has a 7-0-1 record.

Results of this Saturday's games could well scramble the rankings. In addition to the important Texas A&M-Rice tussle, Oklahoma meets Notre Dame, Auburn goes up against Georgia and Michigan State faces Minnesota.

Unbeaten, but once-tied Iowa can clinch the Big Ten championship by beating Ohio State while Mississippi must whip Tennessee to remain in the Southeastern Conference race.

Six Will Seek Basilio Vacancy

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP) — The six welterweight boxers named to fight in a tournament to find a new champion all have agreed to enter the eliminations.

Julius Helfand, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission and also head of the World Boxing Committee, announced the final acceptances today.

Virgil Atkins of St. Louis and Vince Martinez of Paterson, N.J., were the last to send confirming wires to Helfand. Isaac Logart of Cuba, Gaspar Ortega of Mexico, Gil Turner of Philadelphia and George Barnes of Australia had agreed earlier.

"I am urging promoters to arrange matches among these six men immediately," said Helfand. "The committee hopes to find a successor to Carmen Basilio (now middleweight champ) by March 15."

Commercial 'B' To Bowl Today

COMMERCIAL "B" Bowling League will resume action today at Harmon's Recreation, East Stroudsburg, starting at 7 p.m. The schedule:

Alleys one and two—Eagles "B" vs. Courtland Beverage. Alleys three and four—Ye Saylor's Inn vs. Frank, the Barber. Alleys five and six—Babe's Service Station vs. L. and B. Appliances.

Draft Date Fixed

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12 (AP) — The National Football League will hold its preliminary college player draft meeting here Dec. 2, including the bonus selection.

UNDEFEATED ESSTC GIRLS HOCKEY TEAM — East Stroudsburg Teachers girls hockey team finished the season unbeaten in seven contests. The only mar on the Warriorettes record was a 1-1 tie with Ursinus in their final match contest. They won six straight times before the Ursinus knot. ### Cards Pick Devine As New GM

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 12 (AP) — Vaughan (Bing) Devine, a front office man with the St. Louis Cardinals for 18 years, became their general manager today.

The 40-year-old Devine replaced Frank Lane who quit to become general manager of the Cleveland Indians of the American League.

August A. Busch Jr., club president, named Devine in a hastily-called press conference three hours after the valuable Lane announced he was leaving for Cleveland.

Busch, who professed he was "amazed and agast" at Lane leaving, put Devine on a "month to month" basis. No contract was given him. Busch said that was the way Devine has been working for the Cardinals since he joined them in 1939 as a publicist.

Crow Selected Back Of Week

By The Associated Press
One important reason why Texas A&M, is rated the nation's No. 1 college football team is that John Crow, a 210-pound halfback, never has failed to turn in a first rate performance.

Crow did even more than usual as the Aggies topped Southern Methodist last Saturday and his efforts were recognized today when he was named Associated Press Back of the Week.

Still Crow barely edged out a pair of backs who waged a dizzy duel that left spectators wondering which was the outstanding player of the Utah-Army game.

They were Utah's junior quarterback, Lee Grosscup, and Army's sophomore halfback, Bob Anderson.

Grosscup, principal offensive weapon of the Redskins, pitched 26 passes and completed 14 although the Cadets were looking for passes and doing their best to break them up. He scored one touchdown, passed for two and set up all five Utah tallies with pass plays that gained from 20 to 25 yards.

Anderson, a hard-running 200-pounder, gained 214 yards on 30 carries, threw two perfect running passes, one for a touchdown, caught one pass and scored three touchdowns to bring his season total to 13.

Robinson Set For Release

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C., Nov. 12 (AP) — Frank Robinson, Cincinnati's rookie of the year in 1956, will be released from the Marine Corps soon, authorities at this recruit training base said tonight.

Machen Risks Ring Stature In TV Go With 'Hurricane'

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12 (AP) — Unbeaten Eddie Machen, the No. 1 heavyweight boxing contender, battles to boost his prestige against Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson tomorrow night.

Since a nationwide television audience, ABC, will look in on the 12-rounder starting at 10 p.m. EST, at the Cow Palace, Machen says he wants to "win big" to gain public demand that he get a shot at the title.

With San Francisco blacked out on the video, a gate of $60,000 is anticipated.

15 Knockouts

Machen, 25, from Redding, Calif., has won 23 fights, 15 of them by knockout. In his 1957 starts he has beaten Joey Maxim twice, out-pointed big Bob Baker and knocked out Edgardo Romero.

In 36 pro bouts, Jackson has a 29-6-1 record.

Stroudsburg, Eastburg Elevens Face Big Hurdles Saturday

Mountaineers Meet 'Kids', Cavaliers Host Eagles Host Eagles

THE TWO local high school elevens — Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg — will stack up against the stiffest competition Saturday either team has faced this season.

The Mountaineers will meet mighty Northampton High on the Konkret Kids gridiron, while the Cavaliers host defending Lehigh Valley League champion Nazareth at Memorial Stadium.

Stroudsburg, losers of its last four starts after winning three straight at the start of the campaign, is expected to "throw the works" in an attempt to get back on the victorious side.

Crucial Game
East Stroudsburg, riding along on a fine 6-1 record, will be out to gain the win which will put them back in the running for the Lehigh-Northampton League crown.

Both the charges of John Whitehead and Jack Kist face Herculean tasks. Whitehead's Mountaineers big problem is to stop a Konkret Kid eleven which has one loss in 23 consecutive LV duels the past three years while reigning as kings. Eastburg faces the situation of taking on a Nazareth foe which hasn't lost an L-N contest in two years, and has dropped only one outing in 20 games.

One Loss Each
Northampton's only setback in five games this year have been to Phillipsburg, N.J., a power in the Big Four. Nazareth suffered its only defeat to Hackettstown, N.J., perennial kingpins of New Jersey Class B grid ball.

Stroudsburg, under Whitehead's watchful eye settled down to serious drills yesterday, studying mainly Northampton's power-laden short punt-single wing attack.

Jack Kist worked the Cavaliers overtime on aerial and ground defenses, designed to thwart the Blue Eagles' T-generated offense.

The Stroudsburg - Northampton game starts at 2 p.m., while the same time (2 p.m.) is the kickoff time for the Eastburg-Nazareth Memorial Stadium fracas.

Lane Named General Manager Of Indians; 'Trader' Gets Free Hand To Rebuild Tribe

CLEVELAND, Nov. 12 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians today gave Frank (Trader) Lane the job of general manager and a free hand in getting the Tribe back on the first division warpath.

Lane, 61, a sharp-tongued inveterate swapper of baseball talent, resigned his position as head man in the front office of the St. Louis Cardinals to accept a three-year contract here.

He pulled the Chicago White Sox out of the depths and then went over to the National League and did a similar job for the Cardinals. But he was reported restless and cramped at St. Louis, where he had another year to go on a three-year pact.

"I have a lot of confidence in the future of Cleveland or else I certainly would not have taken the job," Lane said in an interview in St. Louis. "One thing we must do is rehabilitate the morale of the Cleveland fans."

He said he felt that Cleveland was a much better baseball town than the paid admissions showed last year.

August A. Busch, brewery owner and president of the Cardinals, said he was amazed Lane would leave the Cardinals and described the switch as "a completely astounding situation up to the last minute."

"Best Qualified"
William R. Daley, Cleveland financier who heads the Tribe board of directors, announced Lane's appointment following a special meeting of the board and said he was selected "as the person best qualified to lead the Indians."

Daley did not disclose salary terms under which Lane will come here. There was speculation, however, that his pay would be $50,000 a year with a bonus based on attendance. In St. Louis he was believed to be getting a base salary of $40,000 a year with bonuses that ran it to around $60,000.

The board chairman told newsmen that Lane, who is scheduled to arrive here tomorrow, would be given a free hand in rebuilding the Tribe into a pennant contender.

Lane has his work cut out for him here. Plagued by injuries to pitchers Herb Score and Bob Lemon and several other key players, the Indians dropped last season from their perennial second-place finish to sixth in the American League. Attendance continued to fall off—from $65,467 in 1956 to $22,256 during the past season, third lowest in the major leagues.

Bowling Clinic

By BILLY SIXTY
You Gotta Have Slide

BILL LILLARD and Frankie Benkovic are two great strike thumpers who stop abruptly at the foul line. They slide only inches. But they are exceptions. All other topflighters know finish with slides varying from a foot to 18 inches—the smoother, easier way to bowl.

How far to slide is up to you, but you'll find that the momentum of the ball will actually determine the length of the slide. If you'll let the ball drop into its downward arc of its own weight, and let it swing freely all the way, you'll immediately know how much slide to take.

Once you determine the sliding length, start at an identical spot on the approach (runway) for each delivery, so that you'll end the slide as near as possible to the foul line. The first step, timed with the push-away of the ball, must be short and slow. Rush and you'll force the downsiding and slide right over the line.

Practice Sliding
Practice sliding as I did for the first few weeks as a beginner under the wing of the late Jimmy Smith—without using a ball. Shadow footwork is what it was. Simply pick your stance or starting position, pick the spot to begin the slide (see sketch) and work on it. With a slide you brace the left leg at the foul line—preventing the swing from pulling to the left or out of its groove.

Five Schools Represented At Leadership School For Future Farmers Of America

APPROXIMATELY 60 Pocono Mountain Area Future Farmers of America, teachers and school officials attended a leadership training school at the Stroudsburg YMCA yesterday. The program was under direction of Robert Duran, president of the area chapter, and other officers.

John Litts, Monroe County superintendent of schools, welcomed the group. Harry Everett, area adviser from Bloomsburg, conducted a session on common parliamentary practices, using a flannel board to illustrate procedures.

Following a recreation period and luncheon, three minute talks were given by Michael Vianello, Chestnut Hill; John Long, Polk Township; Roland Swink, Stroudsburg, and Robert Mack, Pen Argyl, on conservation and other FFA activities.

Viewing Screens

VIEWERS WILL HAVE a chance to see Las Vegas at its best Saturday night, when NBC will present its "Holiday in Las Vegas" special. At 8 p. m. on Ch. 3 and 4 the show will feature Jayne Mansfield, Sammy Davis Jr., Ann Southern, Vic Damone and Tony Randall. . . . Carl Reiner, who is all set to rejoin Sid Caesar when he returns to TV in January, will be Patrice Munsel's special guest Friday night on ABC.

June Allison will make her 'live' television debut on an NBC spectacular Nov. 17. . . . Louis (Gordon Hathaway) Nye will leave the Steve Allen show next month to start filming his own "Fancy Dan" teleseries. . . . Noel Neill and Jack Larson, who play reporters Lois Lane and Jimmy Olsen on ABC's "Superman" series, both wanted to be journalists before they took up acting.

The comedy series "Blondie" returns to ch. 3 and 4 at 5 p. m. today and will be seen Monday-through-Friday at this time. . . . Lucy Ricardo's attempt to tell the truth for forty-eight consecutive hours creates problems for herself and her husband and finally gets Ricky in trouble with the Bureau of Internal Revenue on "I Love Lucy" at 7:30 tonight on ch. 2 and 10.

The continuing dramatic struggle to establish scientific bases in Antarctica is depicted in Walt Disney's "To the South Pole for Science," the third in the series of live-action presentations covering the United States' participation in the Antarctica phase of the International Geophysical Year, on "Disneyland" at 7:30 p. m. on ch. 6 and 7. . . . Gale Storm and Guy Mitchell head a galaxy of guest stars who will be welcomed aboard CBS's hour-long turntable, "The Big Record," by Hostess Patti Page at 8 p. m. on ch. 2 and 10. Also joining Miss Page will be Harry James and Bill Haley and His Comets.

In the "Father Knows Best" series at 8:30 p. m. on ch. 3 and 4, Hollywood star Greer Garson visits the Anderson family, all for the benefit of little Kathy Anderson. . . . At 9 p. m. on ch. 6 and 7 Ozzie Nelson and his pals come home late from a bowling session and find they are all in the doghouse with their wives on "The Adventures of Ozzie and Harriet."

"John Doe 134", starring John Napier, Ruth White and Jane McArthur, will be the "Circle Theatre" presentation at 10 tonight on ch. 2 and 10. A man awakens in a bus station to find that he has no recollection of any previous experiences. Possessing nothing in the way of identification, he seeks the aid of medical specialists who begin a detective-like, scientific probe in an effort to unlock his past. . . . President Eisenhower will give an address on "Science and Security" from Oklahoma City, Okla., at 10:30 p. m. on ch. 3 and 4.

Sports

Boxing at 10 p. m. on ch. 6 and 7—Eddie Machen vs. Tommy "Hurricane" Jackson, heavyweights, 12 rounds.

Automobile Plows Into Truck's Rear

NO ONE was injured at 5:15 a. m. yesterday as a station wagon plowed into the rear of a tractor-trailer on Route 611, two and one-half miles north of Stroudsburg.

State Police of the local barracks identified the driver of the station wagon as Victor Gunther, 39, of Pocono Summit. Damage to his vehicle was estimated at $1,500.

Owner The truck, police said, was owned by Hollow Farms, Gouldsboro, and operated by Theodore Ferraro, 34, of 542 N. Lincoln Ave., Stroudsburg. Police said Ferraro was having trouble with the lights on his vehicle and was attempting to pull into a service station as Gunther tried to pass his truck.

Engineers To Meet Friday

LEHIGH Valley Chapter, Pennsylvania Society of Professional Engineers, will meet Friday at 7:30 p. m. in Hotel Bethlehem, Bethlehem.

The speaker will be Lawrence Perez, assistant dean of the College of Engineering and Architecture, Pennsylvania State University. His topic will be: "Is Education Keeping Pace With the Times?" A buffet lunch will follow the meeting.

Nine Routed By Fire In Ringtown

RINGTOWN, Pa., Nov. 12 (AP)—Nine persons were routed in subfreezing weather early today when flames fanned through a large building on East Main St. in this Schuylkill County town.

The building, containing a tavern-restaurant and the living quarters of the nine, was destroyed by the loss estimated at $75,000 by owner Nick Sacco, who was forced to flee along with his wife and two children.

Overheated Furnace
Sacco said the blaze apparently was caused by an overheated furnace in the basement. The building, a landmark here, was the site of the first Catholic church service in Ringtown.

Aircrafts Fade As Market Falls Into Sharp Decline

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—An early advance sparked by aircrafts faded today and the stock market declined fairly sharply on moderate volume.

Key stocks fell from fractions to around 2 points. Few gainers remained among pivotal issues by the close.

Of the 16 most active stocks, 13 fell, one was unchanged and only two rose, both aircrafts. Steels, motors, oils, nonferrous metals, building materials and rubbers were emphatically on the downside. The oils were unsettled, Wall Street sources said, by pressure on Standard Oil (New Jersey) which topped the most active list. The Associated Press rail average sank to a new low for 1957.

Average Falls
The AP average of 60 stocks fell $1.90 to $153.60 with the industrials down $3.30, the rails down $1.90 and the utilities down 10 cents. The decline in the average was accentuated by a number of stocks in the averages selling ex-dividend.

Based on the decline in the average, the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange fell an estimated $2,500,000,000.

Of 1,154 issues traded, 269 advanced, 63 fell. There were 95 new lows for the year and one new high, First National Stores. Volume totaled 2,050,000 shares compared with 1,540,000 yesterday. Jersey Standard, off 1/4 at 47 1/2, topped the most active list on volume of 61,000 shares. Second was Boeing, off 1/4 at 34 1/2 on 38,800 shares. Third was General Dynamics, off 1/4 at 57 1/2 on 35,500 shares.

On the American Stock Exchange prices also were generally lower. Volume totaled 600,000 shares compared with 430,000 yesterday. The losers included Woodley Petroleum, Pacific Petroleum, International Petroleum and Electric Bond & Share.

Corporate bonds were higher on fair volume.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

FOR WEDNESDAY, NOV. 13, 1957
March to April (Aries): You should be mentally keen and alert now, but do be careful, kindly. Don't make sudden changes or hasty decisions. Attainment will come through steady action.
April 21 to May 21 (Taurus): Day leans toward productivity, but don't be selfish or unreasonable. However, some strong influences may cause irritation, aggressiveness. Be on guard.
May 22 to June 21 (Gemini): Grand Mercury influences. You should feel at your best. Give expression to new, valuable ideas. Put your ingenuity to work in merchandising, machinery, lumber, iron, steel, aluminum, etc. Be careful not to overdo, however, and keep emotions under control. Be cheerful.
June 22 to July 23 (Cancer): A good day for all sound matters, but don't be irritable or overbearing in dealing with others. Be careful about making promises, too.
July 24 to August 23 (Leo): Friendly influences for dealings in merchandise, machinery, lumber, iron, steel, aluminum, etc. Be careful not to overdo, however, and keep emotions under control. Be cheerful.
August 24 to September 23 (Virgo): Good influences. Excellent opportunities if you capitalize on bright ideas, work in harmony with rightly ambitious, progressive and artistic persons. Use your imagination.
September 24 to October 23 (Libra): Familiar matters, work for which you are trained or have special talent favored. Avoid making hasty decisions, changes of importance without due thought or investigation.
October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio): Mars' position stresses a need for emotional control, consideration of others' wishes and feelings. You have a good head; use it to further your accomplishment.
November 24 to December 23 (Sagittarius): Mildly generous influences. Plan ahead as you work, allocate tasks intelligently and execute cleverly—as you can. Be eager, alert.
December 24 to January 20 (Capricorn): Your nature, well aspected, makes your day a brighter, more active one than many others have. Be careful, nevertheless, not to err through carelessness.
January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius): Uranus' position now stresses a need for your steadiness of action. Avoid ill-considered moves, hasty decisions. By being attentive and conscientious, you can make this period a highly productive one.
February 20 to March 20 (Pisces): Don't launch, unthinkingly, into speculative ventures. Study and carefully examine any projected undertaking with which you are not familiar.
YOU BORN TODAY are strong, broad, clear and penetrating. You have courage, determination, and a magnetic personality with which to win the admiration and trust of others. Be careful not to show disregard of others' opinions. Recognize the value of patience, cheerfulness. Have confidence in those who deserve it—not those who flatter you. Take advantage of your kindliness.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

'Czars' Old Stuff In Tight Spot

By J. M. Roberts

Associated Press News Analyst

THE appointment of "czars" to handle vital phases of defense efforts is an old practice, having come to full bloom in the days of McAdoo and Baruch in World War I.

President Eisenhower's appointment of Dr. James R. Killian Jr., eminent scientist and administrator, puts the military science program on virtually a wartime basis. First guesses as to possible costs run around two billion dollars a year.

That's how serious the President considers the revelation that, starting late and having taken various twists and turns, the American missile program has been outstripped by Soviet Russia.

It's a reminder of the historic maxim that men charged with the security of their countries cannot afford to rely on personal judgments, but must prepare at all times for the worst. To put it another way, when leaders take an optimistic view of the chances of war or domination by another nation, they must still operate from the standpoint of how badly they could be wrong.

Rearmament Program

The American reararmament program, launched after the Russian capture of Czechoslovakia nine years ago, was conceived as something which would achieve a certain level and then be held on a plateau.

Leveling off was emphasized after the Korean War and closely connected with the Eisenhower administration efforts to balance the budget. Critics who reminded of what had happened to world relations because of drastic cutbacks after World War II were waved off as alarmists.

There is, then, policy as well as a new awareness involved in the new program, and the President has not yet addressed himself to that beyond the field of science.

He refers to the Air Force and the nation's other military resources as strong defenses. Cutbacks in these fields have been based on the theory that better weapons make reductions possible without endangering strength.

The question now arises whether reliance on this theory is also permitting Russia to make unsuspected gains in the whole field of preparedness.

Variable Factors

The discussion involves many variable factors.

The most optimistic interpretation of Khrushchev's statement that Russia will overtake American industrial production in 15 years is that Russia will not deliberately make war before then. If that be true, then an all-out war production program now would be merely shooting the nation's resources into the space of obsolescence.

Nevertheless, the United States must keep up only for the purpose of preventing the Communists from using their power to blackmail other nations into strength-sapping agreements.

And the nation now has good reason to remember that the Communists are capable of big surprises in any field where they choose to concentrate the efforts of the countries over which they hold sway.

Unknown Soldier's Tomb Holds Firm Grip On U.S.

By Arthur Edson

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—It's amazing what an emotional grip the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier has on us all.

Probably in every war someone has fallen who never could be identified. Certainly the idea of burying an unknown soldier with honors was commonplace long before Armistice Day, 1921, when the World War I unknown hero was buried in Arlington National Cemetery.

Down the Potomac River, only a few miles away, is the grave of the unknown soldier of the Revolutionary War.

All Unknown

In Arlington itself is a huge granite sarcophagus under which are the bones of 2,111 Civil War soldiers, all unknown, collected from the field at Bull Run and from the route to Rappahannock.

Yet few who visit Washington ever know of the Revolutionary War tomb, and those who go to Arlington rarely bother to look at the Civil War grave in which so many are placed.

All paths lead to the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Here come the nation's great services each Memorial Day. Here come the world's great, to place their wreaths. And here come the ordinary tourists, to stand and look.

Many of these may have been attracted partly by the promise of a good show, seeing the polished guards at their eternal guarding. But it's doubtful if anyone can visit there and not be impressed with the 50-ton granite block in its beautiful setting and with its simple inscription:

"Here rests in honored glory an American soldier known but to God."

This is the last Armistice, or Veterans, Day that the unknown soldier will be honored alone. Next Memorial Day he will be joined by an unknown of World War II and an unknown of the Korean War.

Plans for the World War II burial began long ago but Korea came along before they could be carried out. Now the military is busy again with elaborate plans on precisely how the bodies will be chosen. But it's nice to know that for all the complex planning the final scene will look much as it does now.

The flat granite slabs on each side of the present tomb will rise only an inch above the plaza in front of the amphitheatre, and the inscriptions will read simply: "1941-1945" and "1950-1953."

Now, while wandering about Arlington, a final, strange note: Ignace Jan Paderewski, the famed Polish pianist turned politician, died in this country during World War II. President Roosevelt offered to have his body sheltered, as he put it, until Poland "once more becomes a free and independent nation."

So the body was placed in a vault inside the memorial monument to those who lost their lives in the USS Maine blew up in Havana harbor.

And there it remains, known, but unmarked.

Building Burns In Scranton

Free World Seeks Defense Authority

By J. M. ROBERTS

Associated Press News Analyst

RECENT Russian breakthroughs in military science are forcing the Free World to seek central defensive authority.

A year ago the emphasis in Allied conferences was on the necessity of developing nonmilitary programs to fight the cold war.

Russia was proving in Hungary that communism could and would use force successfully to support aggression. The democratic world was proving that its members could not use force successfully if any aggression on their part was involved.

Right Ahead

The Allies went right ahead with their efforts to apply military force merely as a deterrent while giving the initiative to cultural and economic programs designed to mobilize the world in ideological rather than military fashion.

They have never attained the balance between the two approaches such as displayed by the Communists. The Reds employ both at the same time. The Allied pendulum swings back and forth.

Khrushchev says in effect "You don't need to worry about our missiles. We are building them just so we can beat you if you ultimately insist on war. We really intend to beat you the other way."

And of course one Russian hope has always been that the West will eventually put so much of its strength into nonproductive military efforts that its economic system will break down.

British Prime Minister Macmillan says "Never has the threat of communism been so great and the need for the (free) countries to organize themselves against it been so great." He says Britain and the United States are going into it in a big way.

John Foster Dulles, American secretary of state, talks of more foreign bases for missiles, American atomic stockpiles in Europe, a speedup in the American missiles program.

The following box replies were received by 3:00 p. m. yesterday: 12, 17, 18.

Pries To Head State Polio Drive

RALPH W. Pries, of Philadelphia, was named Pennsylvania State chairman for the 1958 March of Dimes at a meeting of top leaders of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis held Monday in the Sheraton Park Hotel, Washington, D.C.

The State campaign will be the second headed by Pries, who directed last year's successful Dimes drive which raised $2,233,927 in Pennsylvania.

Pries attended the Eastern state meeting as the head of a delegation of several hundred polio workers from this area and throughout Pennsylvania. Plans for a $44,900,000 March of Dimes drive next January were outlined at the Washington meeting.

Statements

"Modern rehabilitation can benefit one out of every three people alive today who have had paralytic polio and are not provided for," the State chairman said. "The 1958 March of Dimes in Pennsylvania will be conducted chiefly for the care and rehabilitation of the thousands of post-acute polio patients in our state for whom mere survival is not enough."

A vice president of the Berio Vending Co., Pries is a graduate of Georgia Tech. He spent several years on the West Coast, in San Francisco and Los Angeles, in the theater equipment business before moving to Philadelphia six years ago to enter the concessions field.

Bangor Elks To Celebrate Anniversary

BANGOR — Fifty years of community service will be marked by the Bangor Elks Lodge this week with festivities slated to open tonight.

Highlights of the six-day celebration will be the official visit of H. L. Blackledge, Kearney, Neb., grand exalted ruler of the Elks. Bangor is one of three stops on his tour of Pennsylvania.

Blackledge and his party, which will include Past Grand Exalted Ruler Howard Davis of Williamsport, will arrive in Easton Monday afternoon after a stopover in Hazleton. They will be met by officials of the Bangor lodge and will be given a State Police escort to the Blue Valley Farm Show building where a banquet will be held to honor Blackledge. Reservations close at midnight Friday.

Visitors

Several hundred visiting Elks are expected in Bangor for weekend activities which will include a bowling tournament, fashion show, dances and other social programs.

Festivities will begin today at 8 p. m. with a youth dance in the Elks ballroom. Bernie Parsons' 13-piece orchestra will play. Their services are being provided by Bangor-Stroudsburg Local 577, through the American Federation of Musicians music transcription fund.

Mrs. Annie Turner, Canadensis, Succumbs To Illness Of One Year In Philadelphia

CANADENSIS—Mrs. Annie R. Turner, 72, of Seese Hill Road, died Monday at Jefferson Medical College Hospital, Philadelphia, after an illness of a year.

She formerly resided at Asbury Park, N. J., where she and her husband, Frank G. Turner, were in the hotel and restaurant business. Mr. and Mrs. Turner came to Canadensis 12 years ago.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Turner leaves one brother, Roland Cupitt, of Pottsville; two sisters, Mrs. Polly Miles and Mrs. Vinnie Nesbitt, both of Nottingham, England.

Church

She attended the Canadensis Methodist Church and was a member of the Canadensis Sewing Circle. While in Asbury Park, she was an active member of the Eastern Star, White Shrine and Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. at the Matthews, Francioni and Taylor Funeral Home, Seventh Ave., Asbury Park. Burial will be in Monmouth Memorial Park, Neptune, N. J. Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday night.

Easton Honors Dr. Hutchison

EASTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Easton area residents tonight paid tribute to Dr. Ralph C. Hutchison, former Lafayette College president, for his service to this community.

Dr. Hutchison, who resigned his college post last Sept. 8, now is educational adviser to the Oil Consortium in Iran.

He was presented with an automobile from the citizens of Easton and a silver cigar box from the Lafayette College faculty.

Lancaster Man Arrested On Charges Of Stealing Car

A 21-YEAR-OLD Lancaster resident was committed to Monroe County Jail to await the next term of court Monday after an arraignment on charges of larceny of a motor vehicle.

Justice of the Peace John Foelker said Shay pleaded guilty to taking a car belonging to Donald Detrick of Sciota from the Detrick Tavern Saturday night.

Shay was arrested early Sunday by Arthur C. Diehl, Jr., Bath police chief, for failure to stop at a stop light. When Shay was unable to produce registration cards, he was questioned further and admitted stealing the car, according to Diehl.

Shay was held in Northampton County Prison until his return to Stroudsburg.

Horse Pins Found Necessary

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—A puzzled taxpayer asked the General Services Administration, the government's housekeeping agency, why it was stocking horseblanket pins when horses are few and horseblankets fewer.

GSA's explanation: Civil Defense believes that if an injured person has to be wrapped in a blanket—not a horseblanket—the best way to fasten the blanket is with a horseblanket pin. That's why Civil Defense stocks them.
